"The Male Animal" To Begin Wednesday

A hit both on Broadway and as a motion picture, "The Male Animal" by James Thurber will be staged at BYU beginning Wednesday, and continuing through Saturday.

Directing the production will be Dr. Charles Metten, of the dramatic arts dept., set designer is Charles Henson and Robert Strubers is the technical director.

The costuming is under the direction of Beverly Warner of the dramatic arts dept., and Arrel Allen is assistant to the director.

At the premiere Wednesday evening the presentations for the 1966-67 Theater season will be announced, according to Grant Elkington, publicity manager for the College of Fine Arts.

Excellent seating is still available for all the presentations. Activity cards must be presented for each ticket picked up and must be presented with that ticket at the door.

To accommodate the faculty and staff the ticket office in the Harris Fine Arts Center will be open from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Although tickets for the general public are $1.50 per person, group rates are available.

Starring in the production are Ronald Dalley as Prof. Tommy Turner, Muriel Smith as his wife Ellen, and David Murdoch as Joe Ferguson, Midwestern University's former football hero back in town to visit his old sweetheart, Ellen.

Others in the cast include Marsha Beckham, Judi Miller, Boyd Adams, Robert Nelson, Tony Felix, David Murdoch, Nedra Elkington, Duane Griffin, Carolyn Hill, Mark Nielson, and Arrel Allen.

Rehearsing their roles as Gov. Ford and Stephen Forbes in reader's theater drama, "The Mantle of the Prophet," are Scott Whitaker, left, and Robert Taylor.

Martindale Play Set

"The Mantle of the Prophet" by Dr. Clinton Larson of the English Dept., will be presented Wednesday sponsored by the MIA of the six stakes of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at BYU.

PLANNED in connection with the July 24th observance of the entry into Utah by the pioneers, the drama will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Harris Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

The public is invited and no admission will be charged.

EMPLOYING the dramatic technique known as reader's theater, the play centers about a critical period in the history of the Church following the martyrdom of Joseph Smith.

The cast includes Lynn A. McKinlay of the communications dept. as Brigham Young, Francis Urry as Sidney Rigdon, Robert Taylor of the Travel Studies Dept. as Stephen Forbes, Martha Hensstrom of the English Dept. as Nancy Dayton, Scott Whitaker of the Motion Picture Dept. as Gov. Ford and Dorell M. Calderwood as William Clayton.

DIRECTOR AND producer is Katherine Taylor with music by Louise Pratt, nationally known harpist and former Utah Symphony Orchestra member.

Dr. Larson, director of the creative writing program at BYU has 19 plays and more than a thousand poems to his credit.

HIS RECENT publications include "The Conversions of God," published by the Utah Academy of Arts and Sciences; a translation of poetry by Jean de la Ceppe included in "Renaissance and Baroque Lyrics," published by Northwestern University Press; and "Snow White and the Mirror."

Dr. Larson also worked first place in the playwrighting contest sponsored by the Utah Institute of Fine Arts.

Dr. Larson also collaborated recently with Andre Mallouret of the French Academy to write the preface to "Contemporary Poets of the United States," published in Paris by La Revue Moderne.

"The Mantle of the Prophet" was completed in 1959 and first produced in 1960 at BYU.

The Theory of Evolution Is Topic of Discussion

Have you ever wondered just exactly what Darwin actually said about evolution? How much of the theory of evolution can you actually believe? How does evolution affect basic principles of religion?

SINCE MANY people are concerned about what they can believe about science and religion, Dr. Hyrum L. Andrus and Dr. A. Lester Allen will discuss the topic, "Evolution and Religion" Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The discussion, moderated by Robert Crapo, will be held in room 321 of the Wilkinson Center.

Dr. Allen, professor of zoology, will present the scientific viewpoint on evolution, and will discuss many myths which have grown up around Darwin's original theory. Dr. Allen has been at BYU since 1954. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of California at Los Angeles, as well as his Ph.D.

Dr. Hyrum Andrus, well-known religious lecturer, will present theological views concerning evolution. Dr. Andrus has received degrees from Ricks College, BYU, and Syracuse University. He is currently serving as bishop of the BYU 27th Ward.

The purpose of the discussion, according to Dr. Andrus, is not to widen the rift between advocates of these two fields, but to present both sides of the question completely enough to give students a basis for an intelligent evaluation of both sides. There will be time for a question and answer period, and students are invited to direct questions to the panel.

Dance-Dine Set Friday

Tickets for "Oest Magnificence," a semiformal dinner dance, Friday, 8-12 p.m., go on sale today at the Information Desk of the Wilkinson Center.

The studentbody sponsored event will cost five dollars a couple.

The evening will begin with a dinner consisting of three entree choices. They will be shrimp, breast of chicken, or tenderloin steak. Following the meal, Dick Ballou and his combo will provide the music for dancing.

Intermission entertainment will feature folk singers, Dennis Minor and John LaMont.

Reservations for tables, if desired, can be obtained at the Information Desk with the tickets.

Faculty and staff members are invited as well as students.

BYU Show Troupe On Road Again

Tuesday night will find the now-famous "Curtain time USA" BYU show troupe back on the road when they play for a Salt Lake City audience in the University of Utah stadium.

A previewing of the show will begin at 8:15 p.m., and the show will begin at 8:30 p.m. at both Tuesday's and Wednesday's production in Salt Lake.

Upon completion of the two nights in Salt Lake City, the show will move into Arizona, where they will perform in Tempe Friday night and at Window Rock, on the Navajo Indian Reservation on Saturday night.

On the following Monday and Tuesday the troupe will be back in Salt Lake City, where KSL-TV will video-tape the entire show for release at a later date, to be announced.

All members of the original troupe will be back with the exception of two, according to Norman Nielsen, tour manager for the troupe.

Ann Barton will not be with the troupe on this tour. She stayed in England where her father is mission president to serve a six month mission.

Roger Hunt is being excused from the tour because of his coming marriage—on Saturday.

The original tour was sponsored by the Department of State as a type of college-to-college good will visit to improve international relations and impressions of American youth.

The photos show some of the friendliness and showmanship that gained the troupe international fame while they were on their mediterranean tour.

Western Chicken Fry to Highlight Activity

Chicken doesn't seem too concerned the fact that before long she will become a tasty part of the Western chicken fry, in the Smith Fieldhouse Saturday.

A Western Chicken Fry will highlight the student-body activity Saturday. It will be held in the south-east wing of the Smith Fieldhouse from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

ON THE MENU for the chicken fry is fried chicken, two kinds of salad, hard rolls, cold drinks, and relish trays.

The meal is free to all current activity card holders. For Provo residents the cost will be one dollar for adults without tickets and 50 cents for children.

BYU STUDENTS can obtain their tickets at the Information Desk in the Wilkinson Center. They must be shown for admission.

Following the chicken fry, a mouse will be shown in the West Annex of the Fieldhouse. The main feature will be "Texas John Slaughter," while a Magno cartoon and a Beep-Beep Roadrunner short will round out the program.

ACCORDING TO Jan Johnson, chairman of the evening, a waltz dance will be held on the tennis courts south of the Fieldhouse from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Dress will be western clothes.

Throughout the entire evening a Bucking Barrel, a simulated horse, will be available for those who want to try their luck at cowboy riding.

Dress Code Still Valid

Believe it or not, dress standards are still in effect at BYU. If you are a new student, or if you have absent-mindedly ignored dress standards read on.

THE BYU Dress Standards Code is based on Latter-day Saint beliefs and standards of modesty. It is intended to preserve the dignity of the human body, according to University officials.

A FEW customs of dress are particularly frowned on. Bare feet are nice at home, but on campus they should be encased in some type of shoes, thongs excepted. The same advice is extended for shorts, nice for spots and apartments but taboo for public wear.

Clothes for the classroom may be casual but neat. Any extreme in dress is out of place on campus.

Uniting The Universe... Around Campus...

STEVENSON RITES
Norton, Ill.—Final rites were held Monday for U.S. Senator to the United Nations, Adlai Stevenson, who died Wednesday in London, England. Services were held in a Unitarian church and were attended by President Johnson, Hubert Humphrey, Earl Warren, and other individuals from across the nation. Memorial services were also held Monday at the United Nations in Geneva.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS
Norton, Ill.—Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Minority Leader Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) displayed that they will seek a conference with President Johnson to ask that Congress be adjourned by Labor Day.

Legislators seem to be showing some discontent and a adjournment, especially since last week when they reportedly said that he might hold Congress in the fall November to pass his entire legislative program. The legislature has passed the five main administrative bills. These are voting rights, medical care, social security, housing, and aid to Appalachia.

REDS MEET
Bucharest, Rumania—Leaders of more than 50 Communist groups from around the world were in Bucharest Sunday beginning of the largest-scale international Communist meeting in nearly five years. Leaders of all the European and communist countries attended, as well as party leaders and, Uruguay, Iraq, and other such nations around the world. In October of 1960 a similar conference in Moscow was attended by 81 Communist parties.

DIRECTORY

It is not too late to obtain a student directory. The Bookstore still has a limited number for sale at 25 cents each.

The directory includes phone numbers, name, address, marital status and year in school of all summer students who registered June 14, 15, and 16. Information came from the address cards filled out by students at registration.

LEADERSHIP

An opportunity to gain leadership training is being offered to students Saturday, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. by the International Seminar to be held on the third floor of the Wilkinson Center.

The theme for the seminar is "As Big as the Mountain—As Free as the Wind," and an excellent program is planned.

DRS. REED Morrill and Jay Elmer will be the speakers. The program is arranged to provide participants time for small group discussion, and luncheon will be served.

Registration will be this week, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at the International Students desk, 439 Wilkinson Center. A charge of 25 cents per person will be made.

THEATER

Highlighting the fare this week for the Varsity Theater is "Sink the Bismarck," starring Kenneth Moore, Dana Wynter, and Carl Mohner.

This feature is a documentary-favored account of a costly British sea victory in World War II. The reputedly unsinkable German battleship "Bismarck" takes a mounting toll of Allied shipping.

After the "Hood," pride of the British Navy, is sunk, the odds are given to destroy the "Bismarck" at all costs, and the resources of air and sea forces are combined to trap and sink her.

Show times are as follows: Monday, Wednesday and Thursday—6:30 and 8:30; Friday—5, 7, 9, 11 p.m.; and Saturday—4, 6, 8, 10 p.m.

Freshman John Miller Captures Golf Honors

John Miller, 18-year-old United States Junior golf champion and freshman at BYU, emerged with top honors Thursday in the British 'Rest' After Cosmetology Clinic

Track Team Wins Nine

BYU's track squad took 9 of 13 first places Friday in the four-nation track and field events in Vienna.

Ron Morgan, Ray Barrus and Dick Krenzer came in first, second and third for the cougar in the 3,000-meter run. Morgan's time was 8:28.00.

THE COUGARS also took first places in the shot put, pole vault, 110 meter hurdles, high jump, 400 meter hurdles, spring relay, 200 meter dash and the 400 meter event.

Mike Bianco took the shot put, Paul Skovron the vault, Al Rock well the 110-meter hurdles, Tim Russell the 200-meter dash, and Bob Tobler took the 400.

Competing against the Cougars were teams from Austria, Germany and Czechoslovakia.

British championship will be played in 1981. In doing so, he beat Garth Morrison, the Cambridge University captain, by one stroke.

BYU WON the foursomes, 2-1, and the singles were shared at 3. The American team won the match overall, 5-4.

It was a perfect golfing day in glorious sunshine and the 7,000 yard-long course was a superb test for the young Americans, who have played on such great golf courses as Portmarnock, Port Rush, Troon and Turnberry on their tour.

BYU has won three, drawn one and lost two of its matches. Mike Taylor, Mississippi champion, had an off-day and was beaten 5 and 4 in the singles by Nardol O'Connor, Sheshire champion, who was out in 37.

RESULTS: foursomes (BYU) listed first: John Miller and Mike Taylor beat W. G. Morrison and A. W. Holmes, 3 and 2; Bud Allin and Craig Ridd beat R. A. Fulton and W. Tryson, 5 and 4; B. Difloure and K. Ridd beat R. A. O'Connor and Richards 5 and 4.

IN THE SINGLES, Taylor lost to O'Connor 5 and 4; Miller beat Morrison one hole; Allin lost to Bryson 3 and 1; C. Ridd beat Fulton 2 and 5; K. Ridd beat Richards 3 and 2; Difloure lost to L.A. Rennie 7 and 6.

After seven tough weeks on the courts of South America, the BYU Varsity basketball team had a "half" in the "marvelous city" of Rio De Janeiro.

The squad, which now is in Mexico near the end of its tour, spent four days in Rio and only had to play one game.

THEY DISPATCHED business quickly Monday night by wallowing and after-letting team composed of the best of three Rio clubs by a lopsided 97-44.

Then it was lots of fun for the boys.

They were housed in the "hide-away" of the Flamengo professional football team, nestled on the side of a mountain overlooking the Atlantic.

THOUGH OUTSIDE the city, it is only 15 minutes drive away from the Copacabana section of Rio. Three minutes walk from their house the boys had a beautiful white sand and palm-tree beach at their disposal.

Most of the boys spent at least one day splashing in the ocean and ogling the most beautiful women in the world on scenic Copacabana beach.

TILERE was sight-seeing in the tourist's dream city. The boys saw famous Copacabana with its elegant statue of Christ whose arms spread out above Rio. It can be seen from almost any place in the city.

The players stayed in a cable car high above Rio on a visit to "Sugarloaf", another breathtaking view of the city from another famous Rio landmark.

BUT ALL was not sight-seeing, sundaes and swimming.

After seven weeks on the road and twenty games, the boys were bone tired. Most of them spent a lot of time sitting around the house talking about the folks...

Jeff Congdon found a piece of driftwood and sat for hours carving away at it with a knife brought in Argentina.

COACH STAN WATTS said "We scheduled many ball games because we would like to earn back the fourteen thousand dollars our sponsor put up to pay for our tour. But the kids are feeling the strain."

Strain wasn't the only thing the team was feeling. In spite of the fun and excitement of Rio, a touch of homesickness for the dramatic Utah country-side and the people living here could be detected.

SAYD ONE of the boys, "After seven weeks on the road, I doubt if any of us still have our girlfriends back there."

Most of the team spoke eagerly of July 23rd, the day they return to Salt Lake City. All agreed, Rio is the greatest, but back home is better.

Cagers Get Back to Again Sponsor 'Rest' After Cosmetology Clinic

The sixth annual advanced Cosmetology Clinic will be held at BYU August 2-5, and will be under the sponsorship of the Division of Continuing Education and the Utah Teachers' and Cosmetologists' Assoc.

The clinic is for all licensed beauticians, teachers of cosmetology and managers and owners of beauty salons.

EACH YEAR that the clinic has been held, BYU has introduced into this area as a mystery guest artist one of the more popular stylists in the country.

The guest artist this year is internationally known as an expert in salon styles, content and creative. His hairstyling methods for the beauty salon have received sensational response.

BYU WILL be represented in the clinic faculty with Dr. H. Smith Broadbent, professor of chemistry; Ron Owen, director of Auxiliary Special Services and Training; and Franz Johansen, assistant professor of art.

Other members of the clinic faculty include Don Eppich, salon owner and member of Utah Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists' Association, Inc.; Mary Kawakami, owner of Mary's Career College of Beauty; and Kathy Taylor, former Queen for a Day model and Miss Universe contest judge.

CHARLES W. ITALINO has been a commercial artist for 36 years. He will teach about the principles of color and an artist to the problem coloring known to a beauty.

More information on the clinic has been obtained at the clinic headquarters at Ex. 3256.

Mobile sound is now on campus. Y. Daines Lee, supervisor, has announced a mobile public and Professional Unit. The truck will be used to supply mobile sound needed on campus.

PAST DEMAND has been great that the Dept. of Communications Systems purchase electronic equipment and it in a van.
